FASTEST YELLOW CARDS

Batuhan Karadeniz came on as an 84th-minute substitute for Beşiktaş JK in their 1-0 win against Manchester United FC at Old Trafford on 25 November 2009 – and earned a yellow card after 14 seconds. The first time he touched the ball, he shot at goal from a position outside the penalty box and close to the touchline some seconds after the referee had blown his whistle for offside. He also caught attention during the Final Tournament of the UEFA European Under-17 Championship in Antalya in 2008. During the shoot-out against France, he strolled up to take his penalty, orange boots glinting in the sun. After stopping to salute his fan club in the stand, he looked at the French goalkeeper, pointed to the top right corner of the net, took a 10-metre run-up, and shot straight at the keeper.

THE LANDMARK GOALS

UEFA CHAMPIONS LEAGUE 1992-2013

The format of the UEFA Champions League has switched from a 25-game campaign in its inaugural year via the 157 fixtures played when two group stages were staged to, in recent years, a 125-match season from group stage to final. The scoring rate, meanwhile, has basically stabilised at a level which permits 1,000 goals to be added to the total in just over three years. After Daniel Amokachi's historic opener in 1992, it was not until the competition's seventh season that the 1,000-goal milestone was reached.

The 2012/13 campaign set a new high for goals since the 125-game format was introduced and allowed the 6,000-goal milestone to be passed. Curiously, the landmark goal was scored by Mario Götze who, it could be argued, represented both of the finalists who took the field for the UEFA Champions League final at Wembley Stadium. Götze had played the 2012/13 season wearing the shirt of Borussia Dortmund but, by the time he travelled to London for the final, he had already announced that he would be joining the other finalist, FC Bayern München, for the 2013/14 campaign. For the record, Götze struck the competition's 6,000th goal on 5 March 2013 to give Dortmund a 2-0 advantage in the 37th minute of their first knockout round return leg against FC Shakhtar Donetsk, which the home side went on to win 3-0 to secure a 5-2 aggregate success. The 2013/14 season is likely to bring the all-time UEFA Champions League total to around 6,400 goals from 2,408 matches.
